Area of intervention: Political participation

Project leader	Association Luxembourgeoise pour le Dialogue Interculturel (ALDIC)
Project title	Political participation: from talking to doing
Project duration	01.05.2022 – 31.07.2023 (15 months)

Project description

The project consists in offering young people, and more particularly non-Luxembourgish young people, awareness-raising workshops on political participation and action workshops including all the practical information related to political participation via sessions of the Dignityland game using the methodology of non-formal education.

The information and awareness-raising workshops will include, among other things, the variety of political systems, a presentation of how democracy and its institutions work, the different actors, including municipalities, and the various forms that political participation can take.

In parallel with the information and awareness-raising workshops, there will also be "action moments". These events will be the ideal moment to present in a clear and simple way (visual/graphical) the procedures and rules related to political participation as well as sessions of the Dignityland game. This Council of Europe game puts participants in the role of MPs (or local councillors) of an imaginary country who have to propose a development plan for the next five years.

Target populations

- All young people aged between 17 and 34 (some 17 year olds will be of voting age in June 2023), in particular, young Luxembourgers, non-Luxembourgers, young people of foreign origin, third country nationals, young BPI who meet the conditions for participating in elections without distinction as to sex, gender, origin, beliefs, social status and sexual orientation
- Schools, municipalities, national youth service, youth organizations, associations, integration actors

Project objectives

- To organize and run about 100 information and awareness-raising workshops on political participation and 5 action sessions
- To increase the target audience's knowledge of the political system, the functioning of democracy and the mechanisms of participation in Luxembourg
- To raise awareness among young people of the importance of participation, human rights and social rights
- Facilitate young people's action and thus their political participation, for example by registering to vote
- Ensure that an educational module is created and made available to the Ministry on the theme of information and awareness of the importance of political participation
